

Panthers Leave Today for New Year's Battle With Trojans

FIRST OF ALL-STARS ARRIVES TODAY

Christmas has not changed a great deal, after all, in these years. That is, the wants of folks have undergone but slight alterations fundamentally.

There is the Christmas card epidemic that is comparatively new, of course. Folks have passed the point of merely running a temperature over Christmas cards; the manifestation has reached the delirious stage.

Sitting on a revolving stool next to me in Hanjaras Brothers java den last night was a railway mail clerk just off the run from Knoxville to Atlanta. He said he threw Christmas cards all the way down and he could hardly lift his arms.

"They are hard to sort . . . all different sizes and shapes . . . and the different colors nearly blind you."

Fads in Christmas gifts come and go—pewter, modernistic cats, trains of elephants, fancy packages of matches, perfumes graded to suit personalities, toys with an educational value—come in and go out with changing whims of grown-ups.

FROM TIMES PRIMEVAL

But the basic yearning of youngsters—and some who are not so young—for dolls remains unchanged.

The longing for counterfeits of children sprang into being in the paleozoic mud and came on down through the ages.

In the earliest crude scratchings made by human beings on the walls of caves, dolls are found.

Dolls were buried in the pyramids of Egypt with the children of princes.

Dolls have been unearthed in the ruins of Babylon, in the cities of Cathay, in the ashes of Pompeii and in the cliff dwellings of Central America.

The tiny thread of desire winds around the world and back, into every country, savage and civilized, through every race and every creed.

And during this one holiday season The Atlanta Constitution has distributed several thousand dolls. That is just one agency. There are a million other points at which the demand for dolls could be measured.

And probably as long as children list their wants at Christmas time, the words will be "—an' a doll."

OR BETTER STILL

Among the temporary and more practical desires in our world just now might be listed:

1. Fair weather by Friday, when the conference all-star football squads are to assemble for practice.
2. A clear, fine day when the boys play football for the benefit of crippled children's homes.
3. A recrudescence of the boxing game in Atlanta.
4. An early division of the Southern conference.
5. Completion of the highway to Athens before . . . well, next September, anyhow.
6. A baseball club that can finish better than fifth.
7. A reorganization of the sports schedule so that the national amateur golf tournament, the world's series and the opening of the football season do not happen at once.
8. Less snow.

THE GREAT MAN LAUGHS

After all, this Arthur the Great Whattaman Shires has the laugh on those who have been laughing at what seem to be his colossal ego, brass, gall or what have you.

Arthur the Great is a baseball player who, having no boxing skill but plenty of what is called nerve, crashed into the boxing business this winter and will have earned $30,000 before the next baseball season opens.

Meanwhile his brother-players with no imaginations have been wringing a winter living from what they saved during the season or have been working their legs off trying to sell automobiles, insurance or gasoline.

It seems to be Art's time to laugh.

SELLS WOODRUFF WORK

By the way, Turner Hires, a sophomore in the University of Georgia school of journalism, is selling Fuzzy Woodruff's "History of Southern Football," by way of making his college expenses. He and it are okay.

Prep Teams Play Officials Quash In Miami Today Thompson Bout

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Two high school football teams, each claiming championship of their sections, today wound up training in preparation for the Miami-Salem (Mass.) inter-sectional game tomorrow. Tomorrow's game will decide the unofficial championship of eastern prep schools.

The weather, slightly chilly despite bright sunshine, gave the northerners edge over their southern opponents, in the opinion of fans who watched the two brief workouts. Weather observers, however, have predicted warmer weather for tomorrow.

The Salemites, lighter and reputedly faster than the Miami Stingarees, were in good form today, but in event of warmer weather may play at a disadvantage tomorrow.

Officials in charge of the game at Miami field said they expect a crowd of 10,000 holiday fans to attend the contest.

The probable lineup:
MIAMI: P. J. ... S. ... E. ... R. ... L. ...
SALEM: P. J. ... S. ... E. ... R. ... L. ...
MIAMI: P. J. ... S. ... E. ... R. ... L. ...

PITT PREPARES FOR INVASION OF WEST COAST

Panthers Close Home Drills—Squad of 33 Leaves Today.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Even so international a visitor as Santa Claus tonight could not hope for a brief audience with the University of Pittsburgh football players so busy were the Panthers with preparations for the trip they start tomorrow night to Pasadena, Calif., to play the University of Southern California in the Tournament of Roses on New Year's Day. The last hard home drill was held today. Light exercises will be conducted tomorrow and workouts are scheduled en route.

The list of 33 players to make the trip, announced today, includes 14 backfield men. The 33 are: Quarterbacks, Baker, Edwards and Wagner; halfbacks, Lanza, Wallich, Williams, Rooney, Murphy, Wilps, McDowell and Kelly; fullbacks, Parkinson, Clark and Hood; ends, Donchess, Collins, Locher, Hirschberg and Schultz; tackles, McMurdo, Tully, Quatse, Babic and Ciper; guards, Dimeolo, Montgomery, Morris, Milligan, Lewis and Yentch; centers, Daugherty, Barnes and Morris.

Some firsthand information as to just what the Trojans can and cannot do was obtainable today with the arrival from the west of Carnegie Tech, defeated 45 to 12 by Southern California December 14.

Trojans Hold Dummy Scrimmage

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Continuing defensive preparations for the Tournament of Roses clash with the Pittsburgh Panthers at Pasadena on New Year's Day, the University of Southern California gridsters today put in an extended session of dummy scrimmage.

Only a short period was given over to polishing up of offensive plays, the Trojans, continuing their policy of seeking a way of stopping the great attack which has carried Coach John "Jack" Sutherland's aggregation through an undefeated season, gave most of their attention to the Panther scoring threat.

Coach Howard Jones has declared Christmas a holiday in the Troy stronghold. Thursday his football artists will settle down to the job again. Plans to take the team to Pasadena Thursday were altered today with the Trojans continuing to stand at Boyard field until the Saturday before the game.

69,000 Tickets

Mailed for Game. LOS ANGELES, Dec. 24.—(United News.)—An automobile truckload of tickets put into the mails today made it certain that there would be no public sale for the annual New Year's Day football game at Pasadena—this year between University of Southern California and Pittsburgh. The truckload of postpaid tickets numbered more than 69,000. The Rose Bowl seats 69,500. About 50,000 tickets sold for $5 each, 15,000 for $2.50 and the remaining 4,000 or so to students for $1.50. The mail order requests exceeded the available tickets by 20,000.

Many Empty Sox Await Santa Claus In Sports World

By Brian Bell.

Associated Press Sports Writer. NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Santa Claus, alias St. Nick, can do a good turn tomorrow for a number of watchful waiters in sports, but probably he will not. There's Madison Square Garden with a yawning seat, only half filled with heavy-weight boxers to clutter up a new and expensive arena at Miami, Fla., in February. No one connected with the commuting promoters would be sorry to find an opponent for Jack Sharkey dropped from Kris Kringle's capacious pack. The old gentleman, however, is understood to be virtually out of heavyweight boxers.

Sixteen managers of major league baseball clubs would count Christmas a huge success if jolly old St. Claus, Esq., should leave them a few good right-hand punches, or even left-hand ones if their control is good. Santa, however, is understood to be virtually out of heavyweight boxers.

Donnie Bush, of the Chicago White Sox, will look through his packages to see if an angel labeled "catchers," and Bob Shawkey, of the Yankees, will feel much better over the holidays if his presents include infield toys guaranteed not to break. If Roger Peckinpaugh and Bill Evans find an outfielder on their joint Christmas tree their first question will be "Does he bat right-handed?" If not, they will toss him back.

For Wilbert Robinson, at his Dover Hall (Ga.) retreat, where Christmas trees are grown, not bought in the market, the best present will be news of peace, or an armistice, along the turbulent Brooklyn baseball front.

A Merry Christmas

GIANT BOSSES SUE ASSOCIATE

$250,000 Damages Asked of Ex-Treasurer McQuade in Suit.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Seeking damages in the sum of $250,000, the National Exhibition Company, operating the New York Giants baseball club, of the National league, today filed suit against its former treasurer, Francis X. McQuade.

McQuade, who served as treasurer of the company from May 1, 1919, to May 1, 1928, is alleged in the complaint to have injured and destroyed the property, assets and earning power of the plaintiff to the extent of the sum asked in the suit. The defendant is a New York magistrate.

The document sets forth a claim that the defendant "attempted to induce and influence officers and directors to pay to him and other officers increased and unconscionable salaries." On refusal, the complaint says that "the defendant planned and schemed to wreck and destroy the property, assets and earning capacity of the plaintiff."

Other allegations are that McQuade stood at the gate of the Polo Grounds, playing field of the Giants, and admitted "vast numbers" to games without these patrons having tickets; that he "insulted, assaulted and falsely imprisoned spectators attending games," and "insulted and harassed employees."

The former treasurer is alleged in the document filed today to have accompanied the Giants on trips in spite of the objections of the plaintiff and made discipline among the players difficult.

Committees representing colleges renting the Polo Grounds for exhibitions are alleged to have been "harassed and insulted."

Frank Burch, of Earlham, Western conference official, was selected today as referee by Phelan and Ray Morrison, Southern Methodist university men, who will coach the southwest crew.

Harry Mehre, Junior, Arrives at Athens

By Ralph McGill.

Just as a winter sun was thinking about giving up for the afternoon yesterday, a man who needed a shave and who was a bit feverish about the eyes, hurried out of the hospital door at Athens.

He strode along the walk and smote the first three people he met on the back with blows that almost knocked them to their knees. He did not speak for three blocks. He then lifted his head and announced to the world at large:

"It's a boy. He will play guard. His name will be Harry Mehre, Jr."

Thus did the finest Christmas present in the world arrive for the household of Harry Mehre, coach of the Georgia football team, on Christmas eve, just when all good presents should arrive.

The luck of the Irish held to the end. Harry Mehre had been hoping and hoping that his football season would be a success. He wanted to finish in style with victories over Alabama, Georgia Tech and have a football guard on Christmas Day.

There may have been some of the Georgia alumni who did not know why Harry Mehre was not at the banquet at the Biltmore hotel Monday night. H. J. Stegeman did say that he was at home, awaiting the sort of Christmas present a young man only got a few times in his life. Now they know.

The Constitution sports staff joins with all Georgia alumni and all the hundreds of friends that Harry Mehre has in congratulating him on the arrival of a new football guard at his house. May he block many kicks, come out fast in the interference and swing a mean pair of hands. He can't help but be good.

Judson and McMillen Sign To Wrestle Here

Webber Completes New Year's Day Card—Londos and Steinborn Meet in Feature.

Frank Judson, former wrestling coach of Harvard University, and Jim McMillen, ex-Illinois All-American grid star, have been signed to participate in the wrestling card in the city auditorium January 1, it was announced Tuesday by Henry Webber, local promoter.

Judson weighs 215 pounds and McMillen runs the scale indicator to 210 pounds.

Jim Londos and Milo Steinborn, two of the best of the heavyweight contenders for wrestling honors, have already been signed for the main event on the program.

Webber was very much encouraged by the reception he got from the fans at his initial show. He has spared no expense in bringing four of the best wrestlers in the business to Atlanta for the New Year's Day program.

As an added attraction Promoter Webber announced that all the visiting football players who will be here for the charity game will be his guests at the show. They will be admitted free and seats will be reserved for them.

SOUTH WILL BID FOR TRACK FAME

Three Outstanding Stars To Enter Eastern Indoor Meets.

Dear old Dixieland, where the moonlight gleams so softly on the snowbanks, will furnish some serious contenders for national track honors this season and Georgia will furnish two of them. North Carolina will offer the other.

The three outstanding track stars will compete in the eastern indoor season, entering either the Millrose games, the Meadowbrook events or the New York Athletic Club meet. Southern conference men have participated in them before.

Georgia's two entries will be Ed Hamm, Olympic and world's champion broad jumper, and Bob Young, University of Georgia cross-country runner and place winner in the Millrose and Meadowbrook meets.

North Carolina has an interesting candidate in Charley Farmer, a sprinter who has shown the greatest form any dash man has presented in the south in a decade.

As a freshman last year he ran the 100 yards in 10 seconds flat with no competition to speak of. That same year he stepped the 220 in 21.25 and the 440 in 51.10.

In none of those events was he pushed by any competitor. He appears to be newly developed and not a burned-out high school star. His records as a freshman were all excellent. Against competition this year he will have an opportunity to prove his mettle. North Carolina has been making great strides in track athletics. They have a dual meet with Pennsylvania this spring and will go into the meet on equal terms with the easterners.

Georgia and Georgia Tech will get track practice started early in January. Neither university will send a complete team to the eastern meets, but each will be represented.

Cincinnati Sells Tony Cuccinello

Line Coach May Get Purdue Post

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Sidney Weil, president of the Cincinnati Reds, said today that five players will be turned over to his farm club, Columbus, in the American Association, in exchange for Tony Cuccinello, hard-hitting young third baseman. He did not name the five players at this time.

The Reds' chief said Cuccinello's salary demands were extravagant for a newcomer.

Stagg To See Games

CHICAGO, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Coach A. A. Stagg, of the University of Chicago, has left Chicago for California, where he will spend his annual vacation.

NAUTICAL KELLY TO MAKE PORT THIS MORNING

Great Array of Stars Make Selection of Teams Difficult.

By Ralph McGill.

When "Shipwreck" Kelly, the Kentucky Kangaroo, unpacks his seabag at the Biltmore this morning, the all-star charity football game, scheduled for January 1 at Grant field, will be definitely on.

The latest member of the Kelly family to add luster to the reputation of the name makes port this morning. He will be followed on Thursday by two or three others who have notified the committee of their early arrival.

On Friday the entire squad, 50 of the finest football players in the south, will be present and ready for the first practice that afternoon.

That meeting between Bob Neyland and the nautical Kelly will be worth witnessing. It was "Shipwreck" and his mates who put the Tennessee Volunteers through the hoops, shattering their hopes of a tie for the Southern conference title.

BENNY HERE

As a matter of fact the first arrival for the game was Benny Rothstein, the Georgia fullback. Benny came over to the Georgia alumni banquet Monday night and just stayed. He is visiting friends here and will be in Atlanta for the game. Benny, however, is home folks and "Shipwreck" Kelly, with the back and the arms that have pitched a thousand tons of coal down in the hold of ocean ships, will be the "first" arrival.

There will be enough stars present on Friday to permit the taking down of the holiday decorations at the Biltmore. If this outfit does not glitter then nothing does. Smoked glasses for the officials will be furnished by a local optical company. No one official can look at all the all-star material with the naked eye and not get a mild case of conjunctivitis.

THE HALFBACKS

Imagine a coach's embarrassment who has to select two halfbacks from the list that includes Kelly, McEwen, Hackman and Jim Magner. That's what Bob Neyland has to do. And Charlie Bachman won't be a bit more at ease. He has to pick something about getting a couple out of Backer, Armstrong, Thomson, Mizell and Betha.

At quarterback there will be Bobby Dodd, Johnny Branch and Hawkins on one eleven. On the other there will be Dunlap and Crabtree. Josh Cody's big guard, Bob Swafford, will be in action in the game. He has accepted an invitation along with Ed Gunnels, his running mate at Clemson. Josh Cody has insisted on signing that Swafford was one of the finest guards in the south. If, indeed, he was not the finest, he has a gross tonnage that is away up yonder and he is mean and tough—the requisites of good guard. So has Gunnels. Thayer of Tennessee and Forquer of Kentucky, will be along and will also show their ability.

GEORGIA'S GUARDS

Georgia's great pair, Red Maddox and Red Leathers, two of the finest guards in Dixie, will be along with the other squad. So will Steele, of Florida, and Roedinger, of Tulane. Tom Jones, Georgia Tech's captain-elect for 1930, is one of the ends. Hug, Tennessee's all-southern end, is another.

Every position is filled by a star. When he goes out there with some in. The entire squad will be used. The teams have the plays now and will arrive with a pretty fair knowledge of them. They will be able to get them working effectively by game time.

TICKETS GO

Tickets are going at Jacobs' Five Points store and at the store in the Shrine building. The game, in addition to offering a view of the south's finest football players in action, will also offer the most colorful pageantry of the year. Some 6,000 Shriners, including the imperial potentate and his retinue.

The game will not be broadcast, it was announced yesterday. The roster of the teams follows:

SOUTHERN SQUAD

Centers, Harkins, Auburn; Eberdt, Alabama; Boutwell, Mississippi. Guards, Steele, Florida; Leathers and Maddox, Georgia; Roedinger, Tulane. Tackles, Marce, Georgia Tech; Frisbee, Georgia; M. Smith, Alabama; Newton, Auburn. Ends, Dalrymple, Tulane; Jones, Georgia Tech; J. Moore, Alabama; H. Moffett, Georgia. Quarterbacks, Dunn, Georgia Tech; Crabtree, Florida. Halfbacks, Backer and Armstrong, Tulane; Thomson and Mizell, Georgia Tech; Betha.

Rockne Improves; Will Go to Miami

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Knute Rockne, who was forced by illness to do most of his coaching of the 1929 Notre Dame football team from a hospital bed, will arrive in Miami Beach January 10 for further recuperation. Information that Rockne would come here was contained in a letter from J. M. Stephenson, publisher of the South Bend (Ind.) Times, who made preparatory arrangements for the mentor's comfort while he is here.

WHAT IS MEANING OF CHRISTMAS?

players on instruments which no man can number, making Christmas lands resonant with His praise?

Surely when Jesus came among men, a supernatural life appeared, which is more miraculous than all the amazing incidents of His activity recorded by the evangelists. He has changed the whole world.

"The air is charged with heavenly odors and a kind of celestial consciousness, a sense of other worlds is wafted on us in its breath."

No marvel of a bygone age, however great, can exceed in magnitude the astounding power of Jesus Christ working daily before our eyes. The glad season which recalls His first appearance in the flesh should inspire the most worshipful adoration and the most abounding benevolence. Heaven and earth unite in the highest and to promote peace on earth among men.

BY DR. W. H. MAJOR,
Pastor of Capitol Avenue Baptist Church.

Christmas to me is an expression of the spirit of Christ which comes from His indwelling in the heart of the man who has received Him as Lord and Saviour. Such man evidently will have compassion on those who are in distress and trouble. He will try to do his part in healing the sick, in clothing the naked and in alleviating the suffering of mankind. He may not be able to help all but he will bring joy into as many hearts as possible by his Christ-like ministrations. His own supreme happiness will be found in the reflex influence of the life that he thus lives. And while he may not be able to reach his ideal, he will not be satisfied with less but will keep striving.

BY FATHER M. A. COTTER,
Rector Sacred Heart (Catholic) Church.

Christmas means to me just what it must mean to every true Christian: A memory of Bethlehem and the story of man's redemption. It means a sincere and humble gratitude to God and an ever increasing desire to see the song of the angels fulfilled. Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace to men of good will.

BY DR. LEN G. BROUGHTON,
Pastor Tabernacle Baptist Church.

About 2,000 years ago, in the small city of Bethlehem, were heard the first Christmas carols. They were sung by a chorus of holy angels. Jesus, the long looked for Messiah, had just made His advent into the world in the form of human flesh, born of a holy, sweet and charming mother. The people round about, excepting those of the family, knew not how to regard this strange break in the natural order of life. But heaven was perfectly familiar with it all, and as Deity for a time took this course of manifestation, a chorus of angels appeared to sing a long prepared anthem of praise, the chief refrain of which, according to the revised version, was:

"Peace on earth to Men of Good Will."

How many heard this chorus does not concern us, nor does the exact date when it was sung matter. That which engages our thought is its great and inexpressible significance to the world. Truly even His enemies said of Him: "No man ever spake like Him." And with like assurance they might have said, "No man ever lived like Him." In every walk of life, where He is known, He stands out as the one supreme character and guide of the world. But more even than this, He is the world's only Saviour. We are celebrating His birth today. Let us do so by making ready for the final day of world peace in all walks of life.

BY DR. ELLIS A. FULLER,
Pastor of the First Baptist Church.

It is well established that Luke, in the first four chapters of his New Testament book, was giving actual history—the product of a true historian's researches—in the story of Christmas and not writing a legend. Then to Christians Christmas means what the Christmas story by Luke means, and it has been interpreted thus:

"The King of the universe—hidden in a cave;
The Great God—became a little babe;
The Ancient of Days—a newborn infant;
The Eternal One—an hour old;
Rugens sidera—surgens ubera;
The Almighty—helpless;
Whom the heavens could not contain—laid in a manger;
For—k the courts of everlasting day—
And chose with us a darksome house of mortal clay."

Understand it? Why certainly not. Daniel Webster spoke for all of us when he said: "No, I cannot explain it; I would be ashamed of myself if I could. If I could, He would be no greater than myself and I need a supernatural Saviour."

BY DR. N. R. HIGH MOOR,
Rector, St. Luke's Episcopal Church.

I am old-fashioned. I find the joy of Christmas in a church. A quiet hour on Christmas Eve and on Christmas morning when I kneel to pray brings me into the presence of God. I am sure of that.

Christ can be born again on Christmas day, and we can say with quiet joy and certainty: "Unto us a child is born, unto us a Son is given, and His name shall be called Wonderful."

That is the meaning of Christmas. Emmanuel. God with us.

BY DR. EDWIN M. P. POTEAT,
Pastor of Second Baptist Church.

Christmas means that the Christian religion is set firmly in the stream of history. Christ is a historic figure, with a birth and career as distinct as any in history. And when we compare this series of historic events with the highly speculative origins of other religions, we can see how easily they run to vagueness and how we, on the contrary, are held to concrete contacts with details which not only are well known but can never be cut out of their definite historic context.

It means that there is another world. I do not refer to the future life, to a world subsequent to this. I mean a world of eternal realities, of which this world is but a shadow—a world of light, of love, of angels, and of God over all—and to see that world is to find meanings for this.

It means that heaven is in direct communication with the earth. There were shepherds in the field keeping watch over their flocks; yes, and entirely unaware that an angel was drawing near, and presently that a heavenly host would be singing, "Glory to God in the Highest."

BY REV. JOHN L. YOST,
Pastor, the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer.

Christmas means "Peace on earth, good will toward men." It is the season when men forgive their enemies, love those who spitefully use them, and bring their little children to him who embraced a life of travail that humanity might be vouchsafed the hope of salvation. It is the season when men come bearing gifts, when the heart of the world turns toward the poor and the afflicted, when those kind forgets its selfishness for a brief space and turns to a realization of the great truth that it is better to give than to receive. It's the one day when men make an endeavor to live up to the golden rule—to do unto others as you would have them do unto you.

Then with reverence keener and deeper than we have ever known before, with a full realization of what Christmas means, let it be kept sacred by young and old, the rich and the poor, the well and the sick, that all may catch the refrain of the heavenly chorus, "Glory to God in the Highest."

On earth peace to men of good will."

BY REV. L. O. BRICKER,
Minister, Peachtree Christian Church.

The first meaning of Christmas is that it is the anniversary of the birth of the very greatest Being ever born into this world; it is also the birthday of the highest and finest and divinest things in all our lives.

But apart from this, Christmas means different things to different people. It is the annual festival of the little children. It fills their little hearts, first, with wonder, hope, and eager expectations; then, with delightful surprises and joyful realizations. It makes every little child in all our land happier.

Christmas is also the sacrament of friendship, the occasion of kindly remembrance; when we renew the covenants and bonds of friendship by little gifts and tokens of our regard and esteem.

But above all things Christmas is the annual season of good will. He who would understand Christmas, enter into the spirit of it, and receive the blessing of it, must have a heart of good will for all of his fellow human beings. Good will among men is the Christmas message that came from the angels' songs in the skies; and the only way for all of us to realize Christmas is to carry about with us down here on the earth a glowing heart of good will.

BY DR. CLINTON LEE SCOTT,
Pastor of the United Liberal Church.

The qualities of Christmas are those of human impulse, and its spirit is that of primitive human nature, of fantasy, of poetry and of mystery. Logic and hard cold facts do not lend themselves readily to the spirit of the Christmas season. It is a splendid thing to believe in science, to cultivate a desire for truth, and respect for facts. These are the roads to political freedom and emancipation from fears and superstitions. But it is a dangerous thing for men to become so sophisticated that they lose sight of certain natural qualities which belong to the race and have played important parts in the civilizing processes.

Christmas is the child of primitive human nature. It is the child of paganism, and was adopted by Christianity. It was born way back in the young days of the world when men were trying to discover themselves and the permanent processes of life. It was born in the soul of some man who looked into the heavens and there tried to read the prophetic signs of duty and destiny. He saw the hours of the day grow shorter and shorter, and the sun set farther and farther to the south, and he wondered, when by and by there came darkness all the time. And then he observed how year after year the sun traveled so far south and then came north. He came to expect this and to look for it. He had begun to have faith. He began to trust nature. He grew joyous. He praised the gods, and defied the forces of nature.

Birth of Jesus.

Then, when the world had gained much in wisdom and experience, Jesus was born. He came not to destroy any good thing in custom or faith. When He appeared men were celebrating at this season the movements of nature. Their festivities were elaborate and joyous then as now. By some wise choice or chance the winter solstice celebrations were changed to a festival to commemorate the birth of Jesus, and today the origin in paganism is almost forgotten.

It is good for us once a year to surrender to the primitive tyranny of the Christmas spirit. Old Scrooge had to. Crusty, stingy, miserly old Scrooge would make no holiday, give no presents, say no word of cheer, and if he had his way everyone who went about with "Merry Christmas" on his lips should be boiled in his own pudding with a sprig of holly through his heart. But crusty and stingy and miserly as he was, the ghost of good cheer got under old Scrooge's hide and into his conscience and made him squirm with the realization that there was no peace for him except through an open heart. And he turned his pockets inside out, startled his friends, and spread cheer and joy all along the path, all because he learned the meaning of Christmas.

BY DR. WILLIAM HOWARD FAUST,
Pastor of Gordon Street Baptist Church.

This particular Christmas means peace and good will among the nations. It is prophetic of the disappearance of war with its horrors and destruction, and the all-renewing brotherliness and all its superb and democratic phases as it lifts the world back into right relationship with a loving God.

Now, as when the Savior came, it has a peculiar message to earth's toilers. Shepherds keeping watch over their sheep were among the first to see the Star. It means the lifting of motherhood to their rightful places of power. It means worship which after all is the definite communion and fellowship between God and His children.

Best of all it means that the Word was made flesh and dwelt among us with all His saving and blessing power.

er, and when we celebrate Christmas we rejoice in the coming of the Savior into the world with all that such a coming means.

BY DR. RICHARD ORME FLINN,
Pastor North Avenue Presbyterian Church.

When long ago, as little children, we thought of Christmas it was with keen concern about the gifts we hoped it would bring. But as the years were added we began to think the more with gladness of the wealth of friendship which these gifts attest. And always, when the home is broken and the brood is scattered, nothing about the season is so sweet as is the sacred joy of fellowship which comes when the absent children have returned.

Was it not this holy craving for His children who had gone away that caused our heavenly Father in His love to make that gift unspeakable of His own dear Son, that they who had so sadly wandered might be gathered home again and find once more in their Father's house reunion and His blessings?

Above all else, then, this should be a time when we remember Him who thus remembered us and has opened to us all a way by which the dear ones who have gone before and we who yet are left may each, at length, be brought together once again within that family circle which will nevermore be broken.

BY DR. LUTHER RICE
CHRISTIE,
Pastor Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist Church.

Christmas is infinitely more than the anniversary of a birth, even though that birth may have been the One "Whose name is above every name." It is an idea, an institution, a spirit. No matter about its historic origins, nor its earlier implications and development. The Christmas of today is unique and pre-eminent amongst all the days of the calendar. It is the center of the season of finest fellowships, of the sweetest affections, of the most unselfish impulses. Childhood, maturity and old age all take on a new radiance as they breathe the atmosphere of the season made sacred by the tendered ties and traditions of life. It is nothing less than a little Child leading

Not many who observe Christmas in the usual manner realize that they are keeping alive and fulfilling a very old prophecy. It was spoken by Isaiah in Chapter 11 and Verse 6:

"A little child shall lead them." This of childhood; the blessedness of the godly home; the joy of giving tokens of our love, and especially to the needy, and the splendid goal towards which he is leading mankind. "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." This is the true spirit of Christmas.

Vot a Christmas!!

J. B. PARIS, Sales Manager

The joy of the day for this organization and all its employees rests in the mighty achievements which mark 1929 as the greatest year in the history of this organization. Already reaching a volume of $1,100,000, which represents the sale of 1,100 new Ford cars and 900 used cars—Ernest G. Beaudry has established a record.

There has been a reason for such a remarkable accomplishment, and none other than Beaudry methods, courtesies and service was responsible.

Ever looking forward in behalf of customers Beaudry, in anticipating their needs and demands for the coming year, is building 20,000 additional square feet of floor space which will nearly double the present space and thereby enable the increase of shop facilities and produce greater efficiency of the 24-hour service which has become an outstanding feature of the organization.

We take this occasion to wish all of our customers and friends a Merry Christmas and thank them heartily for their confidence and co-operation which has made this achievement possible.

BY THE DIAL TWISTERS

Oliver Palmer, soprano, sings a Russian folk melody entitled "Christmas Cradle Song" as a highlight of the Palmolive holiday presentation which Gustave Haenschen, director, has arranged for broadcast through WSB and the N. B. C. system tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

The ensemble offers in contrast to the Russian melody a negro spiritual entitled "Go Down Moses." The Revellers turn southward for their selections which include "Carolina Moon" and "Come Along, My Mandy." Paul Oliver, tenor, Elizabeth Leanos, contralto, and various instrumental interludes will be heard in the following program:

Great Day, from "Great Day" Ensemble
Garden in Sweden Ensemble
Soprano and Tenor duet, Oliver Palmer and Paul Oliver
Got a Feeling for You Orchestra
Carolina Moon Revellers
Alleluia, from "The Messiah" Mozart
Soprano solo, Oliver Palmer
Liedafrica, from "The Messiah" Kretzler
Oh Lovely Night, from "The Messiah" Ronald
Tenor solo, Paul Oliver
Come Along, My Mandy Ensemble
Ye Come La Va Ensemble
Go Down Moses Ensemble
Christmas Cradle Song (Russian folk melody)
Soprano solo, Oliver Palmer
Toy Maker's Dream Orchestra
Angel's Serenade
Tenor solo, Paul Oliver
Blue Hawaii Soprano and Contralto duet, Oliver Palmer and Elizabeth Leanos
Lonesome Little Doll Orchestra
Selection from "Babes in Toyland" Herbert

Christmas will be the theme of the special program which the Chicago Little Symphony orchestra, directed by George Dasch, will present during the Halley, Stuart program to be heard through WSB and the N. B. C. system tonight at 8 o'clock.

Old and new numbers will be heard. The "Old Counselor," financial authority, will forego his weekly talk on finance and investment and assume the duties of host for the following program:

Favorite Melodies Arr. Dasch
Silent Night
The First Noel
Away in a Manger
God Rest You, Merry Gentlemen
Introduction of "The Messiah" Wagner
Selections from "Nutcracker" Tchaikovsky
Suite
Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairy
Russian Dance
All the Fun of the Fair, from "The Merry Widow" Strauss
Church Scene and Intermezzo, from "Cavalleria Rusticana" Mascagni
Songs My Mother Taught Me, from "Pomp and Circumstance" March, Elgar

Several numbers from great orchestras will be among the offerings of the Rochester Civic orchestra, Guy Fraser Harrison conducting, on the Christmas Day program of the Stromberg-Carlson Company from 9:30 to 10 o'clock. The program will be presented from WHAM, Rochester, through WSB and a national network of stations. Commencing on December 30, Stromberg-Carlson programs will be given each Monday evening from 9 to 10:30 o'clock.

The program opens with the Polonaise from Rimsky-Korsakov's opera "Christmas Eve," based upon a quaint folk-tale of the Ukraine. Another Yuletide number, "The Carillon"—the last movement from Bizet's "L'Arlesienne" which is the incidental music to a play whose action takes place at Christmas. Gertrude Rhodes Traylor, contralto, will offer the air, "O Thou That Tellest Good Tidings" from Handel's "Messiah." The great "Hallelujah Chorus" from this same oratorio will be played by the orchestra as the final number.

Other appropriate selections are given on this program. A complete schedule follows:
Polonaise, from "The Christmas Eve" Suite, from "L'Arlesienne" Bizet
O Thou That Tellest Good Tidings, from Handel's "Messiah"
Hallelujah Chorus, from "The Messiah" Handel

Selections appropriate to the holiday season will be included in the special Christmas program of "Brunswick Brevities" which will be broadcast from WSB at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

The feature artist of the evening will be the Chicago Civic opera and eminent Brunswick recording artist, Mr. Rimini during the course of the program will sing selections from the operas "Marta" and "Il Trovatore." Orchestral selections on the program will include such favorites as "Call of the Angels," "Christmas Bells" and "In a Persian Garden," all of which will be played by the well-known Brunswick concert orchestra under the direction of Louis Katzman.

This is another in the series of excellent So-A-Tone broadcasts which Brunswick brings to radio listeners each week.

Paul Mallory will be the feature artist of the thirteenth Nunn-Bush program over station WSB tonight at 7 o'clock. Mr. Mallory will sing "Pale Moon," by Logan, assisted by the Nunn-Bush Singers.

The Nunn-Bush program will also include an orchestra number directed by Rudolph Mangel, concert master of the Chicago Civic Opera Company. "Intermezzo," by Ferrarri, Mr. Mangel will also render a violin solo, "Humoresque," by Dvorak.

This program is part of a coast-to-

A Merry Christmas

A Yuletide Hunting Yarn

BY HAROLD STEPHENS

When you Christmas hunters, back from a day's sport in the fields, are gathered about the yule log swapping broad tales of the birds you did not get, quote this one. It is a humorous Georgia product, bred in the hills about Aurnaria, and attested by Dr. Craig Arnold, as a matter of record at the state department of archives and history.

Back in the old days Dr. Arnold lived in a log cabin on the banks of the Highlander river, in the Indian language called the "tee-to-wah," meaning something on high.

It was a lonely life, and for relief Dr. Arnold, for devious means, acquired a family of pets.

Two pigs came first, "Pat" and "Patsy," friendly fellows who made themselves thoroughly at home in the house, and as the other pets appeared set them an example of domestic conduct.

Dr. Arnold was called one day to administer to a man who had been injured by the explosion of a gun. In gratitude the man, having nothing better, presented him with a cat, "Miss Mary Tom," a name subsequently changed, with the advent of kittens, to "Mrs. Mary Tom."

The cat and her offspring were born hunters. It was an off day when one gence. His specialty was to ring the gong at the mines, at 7 in the morning, at noon, 1 o'clock, and then again at 6. Dr. Arnold says he would listen to the clock striking and would not the gong-con without instructions—and that, without the changing of a word, is Dr. Arnold's story.

As a happy family they lived together, pigs, cats and dogs, in Dr. Arnold's cabin. And many and amazing were their antics.

Flock Went A-Hunting.
"But," to quote Dr. Arnold's own words, "the fun started when I went hunting. All I toted was my game bag, the two dogs in the lead tracing squirrels or rabbits, the pigs following as closely as their fat legs would carry them, squealing all the while to encourage the hunters."

was in the race. When a squirrel was treed, up that tree she would climb, all the while the two dogs leaped against it or ran around, keeping an eye on their quarry. If they holed a rabbit she ran into it, and when she came out she had the rabbit in her mouth.

"Well, to make a long story short, anything that were fur was my game—and never a shot fired."

JAILER JAILED AS MURDERER IN HILLS BATTLE

PAINTSVILLE, Ky., Dec. 24.—(AP)

John Marshall, Johnson county jailer, was held to the February grand jury in $1,000 bail on a charge of wilful murder here late today as a result of a shooting Saturday night in which Jess Dills, a policeman, and Joseph Castle, a former constable, lost their lives.

The affair, in which witnesses said 10 or 15 shots were fired on a downtown street, was precipitated by Dills' attempt to arrest Marshall and Castle. Elmer Castle testified that he and Joseph Castle and Marshall had been drinking and that shortly before the shooting Dills had told Marshall: "You are too drunk to be on the street," and James Price, another witness, said he heard Marshall say: "I'll be damned if I go to jail with you."

The shooting followed, and when it was over Dills lay dead with four body wounds and Castle was mortally wounded. Marshall escaped unscathed. The defense made an effort to show that the bullets taken from Dills' body were not the same as those in the pistol that Marshall carried, and also to show that Joseph Castle might have slain the policeman. Pelphrey Smith, of Morgan county, testified he heard Joseph Castle say to Dills: "Let go of Marshall or you will get shot," and that Marshall did not fire a shot.

Marshall gave bond after the hearing and was released.

SHIP-TO-SHORE PHONE SERVICE PROVES SUCCESS

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The ship-to-shore telephone service, which was tried out by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Leviathan on her just completed round trip to Europe, has proven so successful that the system is to be installed on other ships, it was announced today.

J. L. R. Van Meter, head of the commercial traffic department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, said that conversations between the Leviathan and America were maintained up to a distance of 2,600 miles on the outbound trip and on the in-bound trip from 1,800 miles on in. The ship was two days behind schedule and many passengers used the telephone to find relatives.

Christmas Greetings

from

OFFICIALS and EMPLOYEES of THE CITY, COUNTY and STATE

Out unto the crisp clear air of Christmas morn --- blending with the chimes from many belfries---reaching far and wide into the hearts of every home in this community goes the wish of each and every employee of Atlanta's City, County and State Government.

To everyone we speak our sincerest thanks for their valued support--- for their part in making possible our cooperation and service to this great and glorious city of Atlanta.

We pledge ourselves to your service and to perpetually merit your friendship. May this be to you and yours, the most joyous of Christmases.

JUST A WORD TO GREET YOU

A Merry Christmas To All

MIDWEST BLANKETED UNDER HEAVY SNOW

CHICAGO, Dec. 24. — (United News).—Window candles gleamed yellow through gently falling snow over most of the middle west tonight to welcome Christmas with its traditional winter snowstorm.

The snow fell sporadically in almost the whole area except in the region surrounding Kansas City, where autumn-like temperatures bared the ground and made the shiny new sleds under many a Christmas tree useless for the time being.

Enough snow was on the ground elsewhere to satisfy even the most particular of Santa Claus' reindeer and to assure the bewhiskered saint of excellent traction for the runners of his sleigh.

Near the Canadian border in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota the snow drifted many feet deep. Further south in the Chicago district the ground was covered evenly with a blanket two feet thick.

Alternate thaws and freezes which followed the week's heavy snowfall gave the drift an icy crust. Tonight's gentle sprinkling of snow powdered the sparkling surface with soft flakes of white to make landscapes scintillate just as brilliantly as they do on the most elaborate of Christmas cards.

Temperatures for the most part stood at the freezing point, the mildest weather in more than a week. Last-minute shoppers were beset with ankle-deep wallows of muddy slush on all city streets, even though 10,000 men in Chicago alone were working to clear away the snow.

Other thousands of laborers worked for railroads and highway commissioners in an effort to make resumption of inter-city travel possible. Most roads were cleared, although they remained slippery enough to cause countless accidents.

Railroad travel, after several days of heart-breaking toil on the part of employees and with trains as much as 12 hours late because of blocked tracks and frozen switches, at last returned almost to normal.

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 27

After weeks of exposure came a toughening and hardening of his smooth white skin, browning beneath the sun and wind. He had removed his pajama packet one day to bathe in a little stream too small to harbor crocodiles. While he and Akut were disporting themselves in the cool waters a monkey dropped down from the overhanging trees and scampered away with the boy's single remaining article of civilization.

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 27

For a time he was angry, but soon realized being half-clothed is more uncomfortable than being entirely naked, and he came to revel in the freedom of his unhampered state. Sometimes he would smile to imagine the surprise of his schoolmates could they but see him now. How they would envy him! He felt sorry for them even amid the comforts and luxuries of their English homes and happy with their mothers and fathers.

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

A most uncomfortable lump arose in the boy's throat as he thought of home and he saw a vision of his mother's face through a blur of mist that came unbidden to his eyes. Then it was that he urged Akut onward, for now they were headed westward for the coast. The old ape thought they were searching for a tribe of his kind, and the boy did not enlighten him as to his real plans when they would come to civilization.

THE GUMPS—MR. BIMBO GOOD FELLOW GUMP

Custom Built
By SIDNEY HERSCHEL SMALL

SYNOPSIS.
John Andrew Kellogg, heir to millions, asks Barbara Thurston to marry him. She agrees, but not very graciously. When she hears that he has just lost his job, she tells him that she will not marry him. He calls on his attorney, David Craig, who tells him that he will save her the money his father left if he doesn't prove himself capable of managing his life in a sensible way. He tells him that since he has lost one job after another he will have to double $5,000 in 30 days or live on an income from a trust fund for the rest of his life. John Andrew telephones this to Barbara and she offers to give him $5,000 to turn over to Craig. He refuses and tells Barbara he is going out to Hollywood. She is furious with him and breaks the engagement. He decides to go to San Francisco and starts for California. On the train he meets Anne Ames, who is on her way to Hollywood with a letter of introduction to a movie producer. They become interested in each other. Before saying good-bye in Utah John Andrew tells Anne that he will see her in Los Angeles in a few days.

INSTALLMENT XV.
A DRAMATIC MOMENT.

The noises of the Consolidated studios faded into silence as the doors swung shut on the insulated sound stage. The set, a living room done in mauves, grays and silvers, leaped into splendid light under the blinding banks of incandescent lamps; in its voices trailed off strangely, without the faintest resonant echo. A little to one side of the scene two cameras, equipped with a half dozen varying lenses, were ready to photograph the action through the glass window of soundproof booths; suspended over the heads of the players were several microphones which would carry the voices and sounds to the recording apparatus on a hidden balcony above, place of unplanned wood and rafters, since Consolidated was hurrying to produce spoken motion pictures and had not the time properly to house the intricate machines.

The director gave his last instructions in a low voice, as if himself already impressed by the coming necessity for silence: "Miss Ames, the trick is to slightly avert your face when Mr. Chester kisses you. Don't look at him. Just at the moment you feel his mustache touch you turn a trifle to the left, toward the camera. Don't move your lips. Don't breathe. Keep your eyes closed. Don't do anything until you feel Mr. Chester press you tightly. That's the signal; he'll know when the kiss has been long enough. Strain away slowly, just as we've rehearsed, and then say, 'O, please don't.'"

Anne Ames nodded, and the director waited until she took her position in a chair on the set before saying to Chester: "Watch your 's' sounds. Don't make 'em sizzle. This is the first kiss we're trying. John, don't make a squish out of it. Not a sound! It's got to be silent... now, quiet, every one."

Over a telephone came the impersonal, uninterested voice of the recording engineer: "Interlock." The magic word indicated that cameras and recording apparatus were in synchrony and ready to start operation at exactly the same rate of speed.

The soundproof set behind the scene of the coming action was filled with technical men and their helpers. Here and there men from other departments watched with curiosity the manufacture of Consolidated's newest, greatest, talking motion picture, featuring (as the publicity department had already decided) the girl with the Golden Voice, imported from New York and under contract to Consolidated, and under contract to Consolidated, although none in the organization knew, so far as the talkies were concerned.

The girl with the Golden Voice herself was half dazed with instructions; Anne had been hurried into the production of a picture without knowing just what was happening, or why some of the most important scenes were being taken first. The technical men (for once in control of the lot—a collection of youngsters as young as aviators) could have told her; only in scenes of different types could it be determined if her voice was a "blond" or would "blast" the microphone with riotous sound, or if she was "mike-dumb," or whether her lower register gave her a rheostat voice which might be intensified; her tones might be "tubby" or "mushy," or, that rare thing, for which even the cheerful young men had found no argot as yet—lispophonic or aplophonic—clear in diction, soft and sweet.

Just before a red light flashed, which would show that the cameras were turning and the microphones recording, two more men joined the crowd behind the booth; one was from the publicity office; the second, very tall and very serious, was John Andrew. The jade green Mercury, puffing opulence, and stopped by Kellogg directly in front (no parking) of the columned portals of Consolidated, had properly impressed the boy at the information desk; John Andrew had immediately fallen in with the half uttered suggestion that "if you want to interview Miss Ames for publicity, how'd you like to see her workin' right on the set?" and the Mercury, plus John Andrew's austere calmness, had taken him past gates where only executives and feature writers dared tread. John Andrew had discovered at the address Anne had given him that she was already working; the boy at the studio had discovered that custom-built roadsters were never to be ignored; the publicity department had found in John Andrew's brusque answer to their question, "Where're you from?" something to bow to (naturally supposing that he had presented full credentials in the outer office); New York—which was all Kellogg told them, might mean anything, including a spy from the main offices.

Aunt Het

sent to see how properly Hollywood cared for the gentlemen of the press... and John Andrew was sent in. Thus he did better than tourists, congressmen and judges.

There was absolute silence now (John Andrew concealed behind the booth); the red light flashed; a green light flashed in a different part of the room. The director, final signal, raised his forefinger. In dead silence—no violins throbbing Avalon, no portable organ wheezing throatily, Anne picked up a book and opened it, while inside the booth the cameras turned, motor driven, and the live microphones picked up the soft sounds of the girl moved a bit in her chair. The scene swung into action, without a word or sign from the director; a doorbell rang, and Anne stood up, going to a door on the side of the set; she opened it, and Chester entered the room.

"Lo, honey," Anne smiling. "Hello. You're late. You're cold."

As Anne helped him off with his coat, "Come round in front of me, sweetest, where I can see you."

The sounds were recorded through microphones; the ringing of the bell, the turning of the lock in the door, the conversation, however, were not directly registered, but went up to the "mixing room," not yet dignified with a scientific name, where an engineer maintained an even, steady sound in the loud speakers; a hundred feet distant, by alternately raising or lowering the amplification.

When the doorbell rang he turned a dial swiftly, lest a noise like the gong of a fire engine be recorded; when Anne's first words were low, he amplified them; suddenly lights flashed in the set of the set; the engineer pulled back a plate glass window in his room and thrust his head into the set itself.

"What're you guys makin', the battle of the Marne?" he demanded. "All I hear's machine guns goin'. Who's wearin' a watch on the set near the cameras?"

Anne shook her head; the director held up bare wrists; Chester, flushing, said, "I've got to look at my watch in this scene."

The cameras had ceased turning; "Get a dead one," the youthful technician said. "That clock comes through the mike like the advance of the marines. And—impersonally, to Anne—I haven't heard you talk rapidly yet, but if you've got on silk pants take 'em off. It sounds like a rainstorm when silk moves."

Chester's ticking watch was replaced by one which was not running. John Andrew, since Anne was listening to the director (and avoiding the eyes of the other girl star) himself listened to the flow of explanatory words from his guide.

Again the warning horn, the red lights, the snapped "Interlock!" its coating of liquid rouge and powder, her lips sienna brown with paint; to John Andrew, only her eyes were her own. The doorbell rang again; again the greeting; slowly the two players walked toward a broad divan, over which another microphone was suspended; as they talked John Andrew decided suddenly that he didn't especially care for motion pictures. It was becoming obvious, from the words of the dialogue, from Chester's arms about Anne, that he was going to witness a high point, a dramatic moment, one of those scenes used for poster advertising.

The critical actresses listened to Anne's words, the recording apparatus took them down. Men and women worked to the climax of the scene without music, without word of direction. John Andrew tried to take his eyes away, tried to tell himself that this was only acting, but when Anne's arms crept slowly around Chester's neck and she lifted her face to his, straining forward, he made a little noise in his throat, covering it swiftly by reaching for a cigarette and flicking flame from his lighter; he held his head down as he lit the paper tube, and then, pleased that he must have missed the remainder of the action, looked up. Anne was still held tightly, her lips pressed against Chester's, her eyes closed, her face ecstatic. John Andrew puffed furiously.

He had always been against censorship, but saw now that it had its good points.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN,
Associated Press Market Editor.

CHICAGO, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Prospective sudden scarcity of breadstuffs in Europe gave seven league boots to the Chicago wheat market today.

Likelihood of a quick death of wheat supplies abroad was brought into sight by a surprise report from the government of Argentina indicating that the 1929 Argentine exportable surplus of wheat will be only 58,000,000 bushels to 79,000,000 bushels, compared with 250,000,000 bushels actually exported from the last previous crop. The immediate result was a frantic bidding up of wheat values here to a maximum rise of 5-5-8 cents a bushel, with reports current that European millers were excited over inability to buy.

Big profit-taking sales toward the late afternoon closed the day's quotations for wheat in Chicago and the market closed nervous, 4-3-8 to 5 cents above yesterday's finish. Corn closed 5-1-2 cent up, oats 3-4 to 1-1-8 cents advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 15 cents.

Widely circulated reports that accompanied today's jump in wheat prices were to the effect that European purchases of wheat today for shipment overseas from the United States and Canada amounted to as much as 4,000,000 bushels, exclusive of huge buying of future delivery contracts in Chicago. Some authorities said the day's export business done by Argentina totaled 7,000,000 bushels. There were also reports current that relatively little of the new Argentine wheat crop will be available for shipment before the middle of February, and that world import supplies until then must come mainly from North America. Meanwhile the Argentine official estimate of yield for 1929-30, taken to indicate need of about 32,000,000 bushels more wheat from this country and Canada than as a rule, came yesterday, with today's final quotations at Liverpool soaring higher than the Chicago market and scoring in some cases 7-1-2 cents a bushel net gain.

The wheat market anywhere seemed to have been prepared today for the Argentine government crop report, the figures in which not only gave official sanction to the pessimistic forecast received from private sources, but greatly added to them by furnishing the lowest production estimates yet received from any source. The Argentine government's new estimate of 1929 wheat yield, 145,000,000 bushels, implied an exportable surplus of but 55,000,000 bushels and was dispensed in some quarters as being 27,000,000 bushels too low, but such assertions were without any market influence. On the contrary, all wheat tendered to Europe since yesterday was said to have been accepted at full prices, and the general buying demand here for future deliveries continued broad right up to the day.

Corn, oats and provisions owed their price gains today largely to the sensational upward flight of the wheat market.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—(P)—

Early advances on trade buying and pre-holiday covering were followed by partial reactions in a comparatively quiet cotton market today. January contracts sold up to 17.15 during early trading and closed at 17.00, with the general market closing barely steady at net advances of 1 to 6 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 3 points to an advance of 7 points with the near months relatively easy under liquidation prompted by the circulation of a few December notices and rather indifferent live-pool cables. The offerings were quite readily absorbed with spot house brokers buyers of the near months partly satisfied by sales of later deliveries. The general market firmed up fairly active covering and trade buying. Contracts seemed comparatively scarce after the initial selling had run its course and the market showed considerable firmness during the middle of the day with March advancing to 17.44 and May to 17.69 and with the general list showing net gains of about 12 to 15 points. The demand then tapered and prices reacted while there also seemed to be a little southern selling. Last prices showed reactions of 14 points from the best of the case of December contracts and of 9 to 10 points on the latter months.

Trading in the current December contract ended at mid-day, the last sale reported being at 17.08 which was on about even terms with January. There was quite a good deal of January liquidation which was mostly in the way of switching to later deliveries and which resulted in a slight weakening of the differences. Thursday will be the first January notice day. There are differences of opinion as to the outlook for tenders, but opinion was rather generally expressed that the outstanding interest in January was less than it was in the case of December, contracts a month ago.

Some foreign trade buying was reported here during the early trading, and some local buying was reported on the firmness of grain and the reports of a better tone in the stock market.

Liverpool cables reported that continental buying and covering had been supplied by hedging and realizing in that market.

Exports today 49,844, making 4,067,707 so far this season. Port receipts 40,089, U. S. port stocks 2,658,976.

BROKERS FAIL

Detroit House of Backus, Fordon Asks Receiver.

DETROIT, Dec. 24.—(P)—

A voluntary petition for the dissolution of Backus, Fordon & Company, Detroit stock brokers, and the appointment of a receiver, was filed in circuit court here today.

The petition states that because of the recent drop of the stock market many of the company's customers are unable to pay their accounts at this time, "as the result of which it is found difficult and almost impossible to meet obligations, thereby endangering the security and interest of the creditors and stockholders of the corporation."

TESTING TRAINING OF SIXTEEN MONTHS

SEES STOCKS CLIMB SLIGHTLY

ROANOKE, Va., Dec. 24.—(P)—

An increase of $47,501.87 in net income for the month of November, 1920, over the same month, 1919, was revealed in the monthly statement of revenues issued today by the Norfolk & Western Railway.

Railway operating revenues also showed an increase for the month of November, 1920, over the same month, 1919, of $131,235.45. Correspondingly, the 11-month period ending November 30, 1920, showed an increase of $1,038,528.25 over the same period in 1919.

As the net income increased the operating expenses decreased for the month of November, 1920, the expenses dropped $242,032.95 when compared to November, 1919.

Other railroads reporting net for November included the following: Union Pacific, $3,947,425; $4,530,087; Washburn, 697,046; 977,753; Wheeling & Lake Erie, 103,178; 448,254.

DEATH OF EX-SENATOR

OF HOW TO BE PROBED

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 24.—(P)—

The district attorney's office indicated today it would investigate the death last January of George Lafayette Egan, a former state senator, whose $100,000 estate is the subject of litigation.

Mrs. Gladys McAfee, of Santa Monica, a widow, is reported to the district attorney that a male nurse had told her Finn, who was 83 years old when he died, free of charge, that Egan had been poisoned. While the case is being investigated it is proposed to make an inquiry into various wills left by the former senator.

Three wills dated 1925, 1926 and 1929, have entered the case. It is alleged one of the wills was forged. A revocation of the 1929 will has been produced in civil litigation. Mrs. McAfee and the state of California were made beneficiaries under this will, while the will of 1926 bequeathed most of the estate to Jack Luckey, Santa Monica, a nephew; Jane Corwin, a niece; Daniel Finn and W. H. Finn, brothers of the testator.

By district attorney's investigators in the possession of Dr. Frank Murphy, Finn's physician. It was torn in a section of the body, and the physician who said Finn had been kept to it secret for six months.

During litigation over the will it was charged that Murphy intended to use the document "as a club to force payment of a note for $100,000 made out by John Dickey, a claimant who claimed the note was signed by Finn."

MYSTERY DEATHS

OF FIVE ESKIMOS

TOLD TO POLICE

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 24.—(P)—

The mysterious death of five Eskimos, an old man and four children, has been reported to the Royal Canadian mounted police by Major L. T. Burwash, recently returned from an 18-month trip along the Arctic coast of Canada.

First word of the tragedy was received at Gjoahaven, Hudson Bay Company's trading post at the northeast coast of King William Island, 18 months ago, when Allonguek, an Eskimo, appeared worn and disheveled with an incoherent story that five people had been done to death by a "bad spirit" who had taken them to a "bad land" 12 miles from Gjoahaven.

William Gibson, Hudson's Bay Company factor, persuaded a native to accompany him to the island which is notorious among the aborigines as a stamping ground for evil spirits. The factor and his guide, who had drifted south, inside were the bodies of four children and an old man. The man and one of the children bore marks of having been killed with a club, while the bodies of the other three children appeared to have been strangled.

Shortly afterward Allonguek disappeared.

CHICAGO, Dec. 24.—(P)—

A down-and-out, who convinced a judge he was a fallen star of the big leagues and nearly talked himself into a Christmas feast, was held in a police cell today as an impostor as well as a vagrant.

He called himself Danny Murphy, the one-time kid of Connie Mack's Chicago Cubs, and claimed to be the champion of 1910. Judge Samuel Heller listened to his story and was the first to start a fund for "Murphy's Christmas." The vagrant who claimed to be a fallen star of the big leagues, appeared to have been strangled.

He came back to a different reception. Judge Heller had telegraphed Mack, a major league official and newspaper had investigated and found the real Danny Murphy living in Jersey City. He said he had not been Chicago for years. Eddie Collins, coach of the Athletics, telegraphed the judge that Murphy is a prosperous businessman.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Dec. 24.—

Returning from New York with her mother and her two sons for the holidays, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, wife of the governor, brought with her $2,000 given her in the United States for the Golden Rule fund for hungry children in the schools.

The local committee also announced the receipt of a check for $150 representing the cost of two Christmas gifts which individuals preferred to have sent to the island's children. One of the Golden Rule givers was Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, the governor's sister, who sent $300.

Associated Press Financial Writer. NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—(P)—Stock prices turned upward today under the influence of a brief flurry of buying by bears not wishing to maintain short positions over the holiday.

The morning uptick carried a wide assortment of leading shares up 4 or 5 points, but the market gradually eased off and by noon the advance was mostly reduced by about half. The market was unusually still, with few orders on either side, so that prices were extraordinarily sensitive.

The day's news served for the most part merely to attest the current recession in industry. Freight car loadings figures, as announced for the second day of the month, indicated a continuing decline in activity. The day's sales aggregated only 1,906,050 shares, the smallest turnover for a five-hour session since August of 1919.

Sing Carols

the merits and demerits of the oyster served there.

Phillip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, and Winston Churchill, his conservative predecessor, exchanged Christmas greetings after an acrimonious fight over the labor ministry's financial policy.

In the course of the discussion, Mr. Snowden announced that the "protectionist" or safeguarding duties would not be reduced after they had expired.

The traditional Christmas card decorations for the English yuletide scene were absent this year except in some northern districts. Most of the islands were harking in on the Christmas Eve and there were no signs of a "white" Christmas.

ARGENTINE PRESIDENT ACCUSES DEATH

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Dec. 24.—(AP)—President Hipolito Yrigoyen escaped injury today because the aim of a would-be assassin at his speed automobile was faulty. Two of the three shots fired from behind a wall along the roadway struck members of the presidential party and the third went wild.

The nation rejoiced tonight at the narrow escape of its chief executive from a tragedy which would have brought to an abrupt halt the extensive Christmas celebrations already under way.

The assailant was described by the police as an Italian anarchist named Gualberto Marinelli, 44. He concealed himself behind a wall bordering the international road. As the president was driving to the national palace from his home Marinelli sprang out and opened fire.

EX-SENATOR PERCY MISSISSIPPI, S DEAD

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Leroy Percy, former United States senator from Mississippi, planter, southern aristocrat and lawyer, died in a hospital here today from complications which followed an operation.

Senator Percy's wife died last October 15 and he never recovered from his loss. He and Mrs. Percy were married 46 years.

His body was taken to Greenville today and funeral services will be held there this afternoon. He was the leading citizen of the delta city and rich planters, businessmen andNegro plantation hands will pay tribute at his grave.

12 Husbands In Alimony Jail Are Released

CHICAGO, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The magic spell of Christmas tide penetrated the stone walls and iron bars of the Alimony Club stockade and gave 12 husbands their liberty for the holidays, if not longer.

Judge Joseph Sabath was the medium through which the Christmas spirit worked, freeing the dozen men who were in jail for failure to meet the court's alimony orders for the week.

A curious sequel to the judge's benevolence concerned Scelathiel Dillebeck, alimony clubman in jail for not paying his first wife $1,300. She was in court where he was released after he told the judge he had no money. He didn't do much good since he had no carfare to get home to his second wife. His wife stepped forward and handed him a $5 bill.

Another of the men, Gerhard Johnson, in arrears $110, walked out of court arm in arm with his wife, Judge Sabath effecting their reconciliation.

Still another went back to jail. He was Walter Snyder, whose answers to the judge's questions regarding a possible settlement of the alimony differences were so defective the court ordered him returned to his cell.

All those freed were given until February 5 to make some arrangement for paying their alimony payments or else go back to jail.

FORMER AMERICAN VETERAN OF GRAY DIES IN MEMPHIS

AMERICUS, Ga., Dec. 24.—(Special.)—Telegrams received by Americus today announced the death Tuesday in Memphis of Henry C. Hardy, 87, a former resident of this community who served the Virginia Volunteer Infantry in the Civil War.

Hardy, a former resident of this community, moved to Savannah several years ago and was living with his granddaughter, Mrs. M. L. Horpe, in Memphis, where he died.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter, two sons, Sirr Hardy, of Savannah, and Chilton Hardy, of Jasper, Ga.; two brothers, John J. Hardy, of Virginia, and Charles R. Hardy, of Jasper, and a sister, Mrs. C. M. Williams, of Americus.

Mr. Hardy was a veteran of the War Between the States, and was believed to be the last survivor of a company of the 10th Virginia Volunteer Light Guards, a military company which fought the battle of Gettysburg during the war, and which was early as one of the greatest fighting regiments in the service of the Confederacy.

COLUMBIABUYS FAMOUS LIBRARY OF NOTED GERMAN

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—(AP)—The Columbia University school of law today announced the purchase of 4,325 volumes comprising the library of Victor Richtenhofen, a German scholar who died in 1888, as a part of the school's efforts to rescue evidences of ancient European law.

The Richtenhofen library, the announcement said, is considered one of the most valuable records of the history of the laws of towns and cities in the region about the North Sea, including the Saxons who conquered England; rare items dealing with the customs laws of towns and cities of the Netherlands and Northern Germany; old grammars, dictionaries and
